

Wait List Agreement

Thank you for your interest in Pacific Ridge! We do not currently have an available unit for the desired move in date, however we are maintaining a waitlist. All individuals must have an approved application on file, you will not be added to the waitlist until after the application process is complete.

This agreement is not a guarantee for a specific apartment or a guarantee of rental rate. When a unit becomes available, we contact the first party on our waiting list who has expressed an interest in the type of unit that is coming available. The interested person will have 48 hours from the time we attempt contact to let us know whether they would like to retain the offered unit. A holding deposit agreement and holding deposit of $200 will be required once the unit has been reserved for you. These items must be submitted within 24 hours. If this obligation is not met, you will be moved to the bottom of our waiting list, and we will offer the unit to the next person listed on the waiting list.

By signing below, Applicant(s) acknowledges that they understand and agree to all the terms of this agreement.
